SCHOOL BUILDING NEARS COMPLETION

The Science/Computing block which is being built at Nkhanda Day Secondary School in the south of Malawi is almost complete. It now requires doors and window glass, and interior fittings. The school now has mains electricity, through the efforts of the School Management Committee. Kondwani Chidziwisano recently visited the school to hand out leaving Certificates to Form 4 students. He was able to give an up to date report on the building, which is a major new asset for the school and community.
